Description of Physical and Landscape Features:
This 1-1/2 story house sits under a clipped gable roof with a large rectangular bay at the northeast corner, also covered by a clipped gable. At the west end of this bay, a small gable projects out to cover the arched entryway to the house. The house features a cantilevered rectangular bay on the east side and is clad with pebbled stucco. The windows are a mixture of six-, three-, and 1/1 double-hung wood sash with decorative trim moldings. The windows typically appear in pairs or in groups of three, but a single three-pane sash is present in the north gable end. A large brick chimney sits on the west wall of the house, and a second chimney is present near the center of the house. A flat-roof, one-car garage stands to the west of the house.
